Background

The Ontario government’s policy framework for people with clinical needs who come in conflict with the law, A Provincial Strategy to Coordinate Human Services and Criminal Justice Systems in Ontario, was approved in June 1997.

Further, the report of the Forensic Mental Health Services Expert Advisory Panel titled, Assessment, Treatment and Community Reintegration of the Mentally Disordered Offender (2002), recommended that:

“the four partner Ministries (Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care, Ministry of Community, Family and Children’s Services, Ministry of Public Safety and Security, and Ministry of the Attorney General), with the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care being the lead Ministry, equally endorse and fund the establishment of local and regional forensic coordinating committees, a key mechanism as per the inter-ministerial report, A Provincial Strategy to Coordinate Human Services and Criminal Justice System in Ontario (Human Services and Justice Coordination Project, 1997).

It is further recommended that a formal commitment be made by each of the four Ministries to recreate the Provincial Coordinating Committee to provide support and oversee the work of the Human Services and Justice Coordinating Committees throughout the Province. Local and Regional Human Services and Justice Coordinating Committees must liaise with the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care as the lead Ministry.”

Human Services and Justice Coordinating Committees (HSJCCs) were established in response to a recognized need to coordinate resources and services, and plan more effectively for people who are in conflict with the law. HSJCC’s advocacy and support for people who experience conflict with the law will be congruent with the mandate of Ontario’s Patients First Act (2016), which is aimed at promoting reliable, efficient, and equitable access to health care services for all Ontarians. Priority consideration will be made for, but not limited to people with a serious mental illness, developmental disability, acquired brain injury, drug and alcohol addiction, and/or fetal alcohol spectrum disorder. The HSJCCs are a cooperative effort of the Ministries of the Attorney General, Children and Youth Services, Community and Social Services, the Solicitor General, and Health and Long-term Care.

The two primary areas of emphasis for the HSJCCs are:

1. To provide a planning table to bring together service providers to find solutions to the problem of the criminalization of people with defined unique needs, and;
2. To develop a model of shared responsibility and accountability in dealing with this group of individuals at points of intersection with the justice system.

Regional HSJCCs were established to coordinate communication and service integration planning between health, criminal justice and developmental service organizations within specific regions. Local HSJCCs are formed as required in each Region. Regional and Local HSJCCs are formed and operated flexibly in accordance with the unique needs of the regions and communities they serve.

Objectives

The goal of the Provincial HSJCC is to provide a provincial leadership mechanism to support the implementation of the Ontario government's policy framework A Provincial Strategy to Coordinate Human Services and Criminal Justice System in Ontario (1997) for people who come into contact with the justice system and who have needs that are appropriate to be met by one or more of the provincial human services systems.

Provincial HSJCC Objectives:

- To support the individual and collective efforts of Regional and Local Committees.
- To identify provincial service and policy issues and make recommendations to address such issues to appropriate government and other bodies as determined by the nature of the issues.
- To identify solutions to systemic problems.
- To promote consistency of approach across Ontario, while recognizing regional diversity.
- To enhance the engagement of the HSJCC Network (which includes the Provincial, Regional and Local Committees).

Appendix I

KNOWLEDGE BASED DECISION MAKING (KBDM)

Overview:

Knowledge based decision making is a proactive process that emphasizes open dialogue before deliberation or decision making.

There are four essential elements to the process:

1. KBDM is based on a philosophy of open communication between everyone
2. There is a dialogue before deliberation
3. There is common access to all relevant information for everyone involved in making a decision
4. The process exists in a culture of trust

Why is this a good model?

1. The process allows for a thorough examination of issues without an end in mind
2. Who makes the decision becomes far less important than the fact that a good decision is made
3. It is a process for ongoing strategic thinking and strategy development
4. Allows us to develop a reputation that values collaboration

Principles of KBDM

1. Where ever possible, all individuals involved in the discussion are provided with information pertaining to the issue to be discussed prior to the meeting.
2. All participants are encouraged to bring forward any questions they have about the item to be discussed in order to gain clarity about the issue. Inquiry is made through the lens of curiosity with all inquiries made in the form of a question i.e. who, what, when, where, how.
3. All participants are encouraged to share any knowledge they have about the topic being discussed (historical information, evidence-based information, feedback from teams etc.). The knowledge must be direct knowledge (not a personal opinion) and must answer the question being raised.
4. The Chair will stop a participant if he/she moves away from a question or sharing of direct knowledge towards a commentary or personal opinion.
5. Knowledge and information is shared as many times as is necessary in order to answer all questions raised.
6. After all questions have been answered satisfactorily, a final round table feedback will occur.
7. All participants will express their support for or against the issue being raised. This allows the minority who may have not spoken during the knowledge exchange to have their voices heard.
8. At this point no additional commentary occurs, only a final for or against.

9. The final decision will be based on the majority vote and may include the following actions:
 - a. More information is needed – staff consultation, research, best practice etc.
 - b. No changes are recommended
 - c. Changes are launched, and the communication strategy is confirmed

KBDM Model

Introduction - Anyone can propose a topic for discussion (policy, program, process etc.)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The topic for change is introduced to all participants and a draft is prepared • The person introducing the change offers evidence that they have utilized evidence to support the change • The person introducing the change has anticipated a list of questions and has prepared responses based on knowledge gained from the research undertaken • All information is circulated at least one week prior to the meeting so that participants have time to consider any additional information or knowledge they have on the topic for discussion as well as any additional questions they may have about the proposed changes
Setting the Stage – when preparing your presentation, you are encouraged to review any relevant policies, data, evidence and best practice, promising practices, PDCA model, risk registry, partnerships etc. Also consider the QI and Risk Registry Process including reflection on the questions posed adjacent to this narrative.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What problem are you trying to solve? • If this is a risk issue, what is the risk rating? • How does what you are proposing fit with the organizations vision, mission, values and strategic directions? • Who has been consulted? • Who will benefit? • Who will be disadvantaged? • Is the change client centered? • Is it useful and if so how? • Is it relevant and how do you know? • Is it reflective of best practice, legislative requirements, evidence?
Tools for Presenting the issue and recommendation – When presenting the information ensure you are aware that your knowledge is only one perspective and the purpose of the discussion is to solicit	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Include all those who need to be included • Ensure that there is balanced participation

additional knowledge and information to support a successful outcome.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Listen, hear, acknowledge all contributions • Suspend judgment • Share knowledge not personal opinions • Be specific
Complete and Evaluate	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Summarize all shared understandings • Identify the points where we agree to disagree • Formulate the decision, recommendations or next steps
Communicate	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Identify who needs to be informed of the decision • Share the decision including the rational and knowledge gathered to formulate the decision.

1. Background Information

All committee members should have all pertinent information compiled prior to the meeting.

2. Current Knowledge or Lack of Knowledge

The discussion is always framed according to the issue presented including the “pros and cons”, implications of decisions, what we wish we knew but don’t, etc.

3. Verbal Information Exchange

a. Question and Answer

- i. Committee members will ask questions to gain clarity of the proposed issue/recommendation.
